This is one of the many entrances to Abbott Northwestern Hospital located in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

This is one of several incoming water treatment equipment stations located at Abbott Northwestern Hospital in Minneapolis.

Problem:

Abbott Northwestern Hospital needed to identify a local incoming water treatment company to handle a variety of water treatment needs for the firm.

Solution:

Culligan approached Abbott Northwestern Hospital with a comprehensive incoming water treatment solution that includes softeners, reverse osmosis water for dialysis systems and other laboratory water applications.

Result:

Culligan provided Abbott Northwestern Hospital with a comprehensive incoming water treatment solution that allowed the company the convenience and peace of mind of working with one exclusive vendor.
